

Creating BACD accreditation cases in everyday practice

Are you considering or already working towards BACD Accreditation?

Are you finding the process to be a significant challenge or feel it is unattainable?

Do you wonder how the top point one percent of dentists consistently produce multiple award winning and Accreditation standard cases year after year without stress and while maintaining a profitable practice?

If so, then the following information will be of interest to you. G-two dental Academy has created the follow course specifically designed to accelerate the knowledge and skills required to achieve Accreditation with the BACD - and award winning cases if desired!

If you are serious about Accreditation you will not only learn to quickly and predictably lift your skills to the next level, but you will be on your way to becoming the very best you can be, to the benefit of you and your patients.

The easiest and quickest way to emulate what already successful people are achieving is to look at what they do, then copy it!

The aims of this two day course are:

- Identify the three primary factors critical to predictable smile assessment and treatment planning when working towards accreditation
- Identify those clinical factors most critical for repeatable and predictable treatment results
- Identify the clinical cases most suited to accreditation or even national awards
- Identify the necessary systems to predictably implement all of the above

The benefits to you are:

- ✓ To rapidly accelerate your learning pathway in order to submit cases for accreditation and national awards with confidence.
- ✓ Help you achieve expert status in the eyes of the profession and general public while providing ethical care
- ✓ Treat more interesting, more rewarding and more profitable cases.

About Dr Neil Gerrard

Dr Neil Gerrard gained advanced qualifications in 1994 as a dental technician before graduating in dentistry from Bristol in 1999.

Since that time he has focused his private practice in cosmetic and implant dentistry, being recognised as an accredited member and examiner with the BACD since 2008 and achieving masters degree level in implant dentistry in 2015. He has won numerous awards in aesthetic dentistry over the past 7 years in conjunction with his brother Paul, winning aesthetic dentist of the year 2016 in the national aesthetic dentistry awards.

Neil co-founded G-2 Academy with his brother Paul. Their vision; to share the extensive knowledge and multiple systems they employ to achieve predictable clinical excellence in everyday daily practice.
